

438 ALUMNI AT ANNUAL DINNER MONDAY NIGHT; AWARD HONORS

Four hundred thirty-eight graduates of Gettysburg High School attended the annual banquet of the Gettysburg High School Alumni Association Monday evening in the school cafeteria, making it one of the largest attended affairs in the history of the event.

Reunion classes held the center of the stage after the annual awards had been announced.

The annual alumni scholarship award was presented to Miss Carolyn Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hull, R. 3, who a few minutes earlier had received the Ruth A. Spangler Romance language award. The prize for second highest honors was presented to Charles "Chuck" Korte, son of Rev. and Mrs. Edwerth E. Korte, Miami, O., formerly of Gettysburg.

OTHER HONORS

The Guy Wolf memorial awards for highest standings in the commercial department also were presented by Jay R. Schmitt, chairman of the alumni awards committee. Barbara Fisel and Margaret Ellen Sterner shared first honors in the bookkeeping department and the second place award was divided between Gladys Becker and Nancy Jackson. The prize for the best students in the secretarial course were awarded as follows: First, Barbara Fisel and Sandra Hartman, and second prize, Mary Lou Bowmaster.

President C. William Harbaugh, class of 1940, presided during the evening, welcomed the graduating class and called upon the reunion classes for responses.

Earliest reunion class represented was the 65th reunion class, 1896, represented alone by Miss Alice Williams, of Gettysburg, one of the association's statisticians. She spoke briefly and read a letter from the other surviving member of her class, Roy Dougherty, one of the founders of the Alumni Association.

Other "old grads" introduced included Miss Isabelle G. Griffith, class of 1897, and Virginia Tawney Sientz, class of 1898, both of Harrisburg.

ONE FOR 60TH

Only representative present from the 60th anniversary class of 1901 was Mrs. Ruth V. McNeil of Harrisburg, salutatorian of her class of 11 at graduation. She said four survive.

No members of the class of 1906 were in attendance but a letter was read from Mabel E. Thorn, Gettysburg, member of that class, and the class roll was read by J. Herbert Raymond.

AT 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Spokesman for the 50th anniversary class of 1911 was Dorsey Weikert, Moorestown, N. J. Three classmates sat with him. They were Nellie Kelly Miller and Mrs. Irene S. Oliver, both of Gettysburg. (Continued On Page 3)

PLAN HULL SERVICES

Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Boose Hull, 82, widow of Harvey Hull, formerly of Littlestown, who died on Monday morning at the Hale Nursing Home, Finksburg, Md., will be conducted on Thursday at 10 a.m. from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. William C. Karns, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Littlestown, will officiate. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Silver Run. Friends may call at the funeral home on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Hull was a daughter of the late Ephraim and Elizabeth (Crouse) Boose and her husband preceded her in death August 20, 1906. She was a member of St. John's Church, Littlestown. Surviving are two brothers, Charles Boose, Hanover, and Oliver Boose, Danville; also a stepdaughter, Mrs. David Smith, York.

Is Vice President For University

Dr. Hobart F. Heller, a Gettysburg College alumnus, has been appointed to the new post of vice president for instruction at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Ill.

He will have under his direction the academic affairs of the university with his primary concern the improvement of instruction and instructional facilities.

Dr. Heller has been a member of the faculty at the university since 1931 and dean of the faculty since 1942.

A graduate of Gettysburg College with the class of 1924, Dr. Heller holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa Society and the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

ENROLL MANY FOR HOSPITAL FUND CAMPAIGN

Regional chairmen and division commanders in the forthcoming public phase of the Warner Hospital surgical floor fund drive have met with uniform success in enlisting captains and lieutenants who will, in turn, enlist the volunteer workers for the solicitation which begins with an opening dinner of the entire organization at the Hotel Gettysburg Annex on June 15 at 6:30 p.m.

The announcement was made today by Mrs. John D. Teeter and Atty. S. M. Raffensperger, co-chairmen of the public phase of the $350,000 campaign. The chairmen said that captains and lieutenants will select teams of ten or more workers. The ultimate organization of between 400 and 500 volunteers is designed so that no worker will be asked to call on more than ten prospective subscribers during the two-week period of solicitation, ending on June 29.

NINE REGIONS

Nine regions constitute the service area of Warner Hospital for the purposes of the campaign. These regions and divisions and their leaders are: Region I Upper Adams, Division I, David C. Houck, commander. Arendtsville, Philip Miller and Jay McGlaughlin, team captains. Three Aspers teams are led by Luther A. Smith, William R. Carey and Mrs. Robert Thompson. Paul Pitzer is captain. Grandstand Is Presented To Biglerville Hi

A new 15-row grandstand, 100 feet 6 inches wide, will be erected along the west side of the Musselman Memorial Field at Biglerville High School. It was announced at Biglerville commencement exercises Monday evening in Biglerville by John A. Hauser, president of the C. H. Musselman Co., and Donald B. Hudson, superintendent of the Upper Adams schools.

The gift is made possible through an appropriation of funds by the Musselman Foundation, it was announced.

It is hoped to complete construction of the new grandstand by next September 1. It will seat 1,000.

The two middle sections of the existing stands will be moved to the east side of the football field. The existing press box will also be relocated on the east side. Total seating capacity will be about 2,600.

A concrete block area will be erected under the new grandstand providing for completely equipped locker rooms for both visiting and home athletic teams, public rest rooms and a refreshment booth. Also included in the plans is a chain link fence to surround the entire field area.

"The gift of the Musselman Foundation is greatly appreciated by the students, teachers and the school board," Mr. Hudson said in an acceptance statement. "It will provide us with much needed facilities for our athletic field, placing this phase of our program on a par with our new high school building. The gift is further evidence of the Musselman Company's continuing interest in the educational program of our school district."

The original grading and preparation of the field, now known as Musselman Memorial Field, was completed in 1942 in conjunction with the completion of the industrial arts building. Both projects were gifts of the late Mr. Musselman and Mrs. Musselman. Other Musselman contributions to Biglerville High School include a completely equipped gymnasium and an addition to the original building for classrooms which were completed in 1949.

American People Are Ready To Pay Whatever Price Is Necessary To Preserve Freedom, Says Governor Lawrence In Memorial Address

"The American people are ready, as they were in Lincoln's time, to pay whatever price, to meet whatever force, to accomplish any task that is necessary to preserve us as a nation and to secure freedom in the world," declared Governor David L. Lawrence in his Memorial Day address in the Gettysburg National Cemetery here this afternoon.

His text follows in full:

"I am told that I am the fourteenth Governor of Pennsylvania to speak to his fellow citizens at Gettysburg on this day which was chosen long ago as a memorial—a call to our remembrance—of the men who fought and the men who died to preserve the union of the American states. I do not know what my distinguished predecessors said—it would be interesting to search out their manuscripts—but I am sure that each of them was concerned, as I am, as to what he might add to the nine sculptured sentences, the perfect two hundred sixty-five words, which Abraham Lincoln spoke at the dedication of this cemetery on a raw November day in 1863.

"It was, of course, a Nation vastly different in its dimensions—the Nation Lincoln knew. It was a small Nation by our standards—something not much more than 30,000 people, North and South, about the population of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey in our own time. It was a rural nation; most people made their living on the farm. It was a Nation still unmechanized; the energy sources in coal and oil were just being tapped; no railroad yet crossed the continent; electricity was still a phenomenon of the physics laboratory and the stormy heavens.

"SENSE OF CHALLENGE"

"A Czar reigned in Russia, an Emperor in France, Germany and Italy were not yet unified as nations.

"Men were seeking the sources of the Nile in the same wonderment—the same great sense of challenge—as we now seek the craters of the Moon.

"War was personal and terrible, as terrible in its aimed rifle bullets—with death just as final—as it might be today when death may cross continents with great cities as the missile's target. A young captain in the Civil War—the war in which so many were yet to die

Bob Kennedy Plans To Open All Interstate Buses And Facilities To All Colors

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has his way, every interstate passenger bus in the country soon will carry a conspicuous placard reading:

"All seats aboard this vehicle are by law available at all times to any passenger without regard to race, color, creed, or national origin."

Similar plain notice to ban any discriminatory policies would be posted at all facilities maintained in connection with interstate bus travel — such as waiting rooms, rest rooms, eating and drinking facilities and windows for ticket sale.

FILE PETITION

These proposals were the key features of a formal petition which the attorney general filed late Monday with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Kennedy's aim is to bring the Cars Collide At Intersection Here

Borough police this morning were investigating a collision which occurred at 9:20 o'clock at the intersection of Chambersburg St. and Washington St. No one was injured but there was considerable damage to each car.

Leo A. Frantz, Baltimore, was headed west on Chambersburg St. with his wife and daughter in the car when he struck the right side of a machine being driven north on Washington St. by Kathryn Staley, 42 W. Water St. After the collision, the Staley car swerved and struck a light post at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Mother, 28, And 6 Children Burn

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — A 28-year-old woman and six of her nine children died Monday night in a fire that swept through a three-story frame tenement house.

All suffocated in their top-floor apartment. The three other children in the family escaped.

Fourteen persons, including a fireman, were treated at the Jersey City Medical Center for injuries or smoke poisoning.

A number of persons among the five families in the house escaped by leaping from windows. A pregnant woman leaped from a second-floor window with a year-old son in her arms. Both were injured.

The dead: Mrs. Vivian Lattimore; three sons, Carney, 6; Rennie, 3; and Alfonso, 10 months; and three daughters, Marie, 13; Vivian, 5, and Dorothy Ann, 4.

Fire 19-Gun Salute For Governor; Parade At 2

The thunder of 105 millimeter howitzers rumbled through Gettysburg this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock as the local battery of the National Guard fired a 19-gun salute for Pennsylvania's Governor David L. Lawrence.

The salute was part of the tribute paid to Governor Lawrence by "The Governor's Troop," the 104th Armored Cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, as part of the Memorial Day exercises here.

Before the parade started this afternoon the headquarters unit of the 104th and members of the local howitzer battery stood at stiff attention on Lincoln Square as a guard of honor for the governor's inspection.

500 GUARDSMEN MARCH

In a scene reminiscent of the days here a half century ago when Gettysburg was the site of the annual National Guard encampments, 500 members of the 2nd Reconnaissance Squadron of the 104th marched in the Memorial Day parade here.

Memorial Day activities opened here at 11 o'clock this morning with the arrival of Governor Lawrence by plane from Pittsburgh. He is the 14th governor to speak at Memorial exercises here.

Meeting him at the airport were Chester S. Shriver, general chairman for the Memorial Day committee; William G. Weaver, its secretary, and Walter O. Powell and Richard L. Fox, the vice chairmen.

CONCERT AT 1 P.M.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the 48 members of the Headquarters Command Band of the Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., presented a concert in Lincoln Square. At 1:30 o'clock when Lt. Col. Marlin B. Bair, Camp Hill, commanding officer of the 2nd Reconnaissance Squadron of the 104th, escorted Governor Lawrence for the guard of honor, the Air Force Band played the traditional flourishes connected with the honor guard ritual.

LADIES' NIGHT BY KIWANIS CLUB MONDAY

Kiwanis Lt. Governor Elmer Long and William G. Shoemaker, past president of the Gettysburg Civil War Round Table, were speakers Monday evening at a joint ladies' night dinner of the Gettysburg, Westminster and Chambersburg Kiwanis Clubs. Sixty-eight attended the session at Lamp Post Tea Room.

Governor Long spoke in praise of the three clubs. Shoemaker gave details of the Battle of Gettysburg and events in Chambersburg, Westminster, Union Mills, Rossville, Carlisle and York occurring during the Gettysburg campaign.

He urged plans to "celebrate these events on the 100th anniversary of the richest inheritance this country has, the Civil War." The movie made by the Chamber of Commerce and Travel Council entitled "A Story of Gettysburg" was shown.

Dr. D. W. Dodd, a past Kiwanis lieutenant governor from Norwood; Rodney G. Thomas, West Virginia, and Mrs. Elmer Long were among guests introduced.

Next Monday's meeting of the local club will be held at their pavilion on the Recreation Field when the pavilion will be formally presented to the borough.

Approval was given to participation in paying for milk to be distributed to children at the recreation parks here this summer. President Kenneth Foust presided at the meeting.

PLAN FAREWELL

A farewell reception for Rev. Fr. Anthony Kane, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, and Rev. Fr. William Sullivan, assistant pastor of the church, will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the parish hall by members of the congregation. Rev. Fr. Kane has been transferred to Lancaster and Rev. Fr. Sullivan to Elizabethtown effective Friday.

U. S. HOLIDAY DEATHS TOTAL MORE THAN 520

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic	375
Boating	29
Drowning	41
Miscellaneous	84
Total	529

Safety experts and police pleaded with motorists for caution today as the mounting death toll in traffic accidents over the extended Memorial Day weekend appeared headed for a record.

Traffic deaths have averaged one every 14 or 15 minutes—more than 4 an hour—since the count started at 6 p.m. Friday. If this rate continues to the end of the holiday period at midnight tonight (local time), the final toll would surpass the record of 413 highway fatalities in the four-day Memorial Day weekend of 1957.

There also was a heavy toll of other accidents deaths, including drownings and from miscellaneous mishaps.

START RETURN TRIP

The heaviest day of the long weekend appeared likely today as millions of motorists start the trip home from holiday outings. Generally pleasant weather in most of the nation was expected to lure millions to the highways for Memorial Day visits.

National Safety Council officials joined with law enforcement agencies in urging motorists to drive with extreme care.

Many multiple death crashes have been reported. Four persons, including a family of three, were killed in a two-car accident near Springfield, Ill., Monday night.

A council spokesman said the holiday today was "potentially the most dangerous" of the long weekend. He said virtually all of the nation's 74 million automobiles would be on the roads. Traffic normally reaches its peak during the late afternoon and evening of any major holiday.

ESTIMATE 100 DEATHS

The council had estimated that 100 persons might be killed in the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. Monday to midnight tonight, 30 more than on a non-holiday Tuesday. It said traffic deaths for a four-day or 102-hour period at this time of year would number 385. However, it did not estimate the number of traffic deaths for the entire four-day weekend as Monday was observed as a work day.

An Associated Press survey for a 102-hour nonholiday period, from 6 p.m. Friday May 12 to midnight Tuesday, May 16, showed 341 traffic fatalities. Other violent deaths, including 14 in boating, 78 drownings and 106 in miscellaneous accidents, boosted the over-all toll to 539.

In the 1957 four-day Memorial Day period, in addition to 413 traffic deaths, 134 persons drowned and 113 others lost their lives in miscellaneous type accidents for a total of 660.

PLEASED WITH CLARIFICATION OF BLUE LAWS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pennsylvania's attorney general says the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling upholding the constitutionality of Sunday Blue Laws was the clarifying point needed to open the way for enforcement of the legislation at the local level.

"We always believe in local enforcement of such laws," said Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern when reached in Pittsburgh Monday shortly after the ruling was announced. "The reason the Blue Laws were not enforced strictly before on a local level was that there were too many conflicting and confusing opinions handed down on the Blue Laws in lower courts."

One of the cases ruled on by the Supreme Court involved five Jewish merchants in Philadelphia who contended that the Blue Laws interfered with the free exercise of religion by Orthodox Jews who observe their Sabbath on Saturday. A three-judge federal court in Philadelphia previously had refused to halt enforcement on their appeal.

In Philadelphia, police had been withholding enforcement action pending the decision on the merchants' case.

District attorneys of Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware Counties said they would have to study the decision before formulating policies.

One of the cases involved five Jewish merchants of Philadelphia who observe Saturday as their Sabbath. The merchants said the Pennsylvania Blue Laws almost forces them to give up their faith or substantially reduce their ability to earn a living.

Will Try To Amend Administration Bill

An administration bill to create a new department of conservation and recreation in the state government and bringing the state's Historical and Museum Commission under it will be opposed by Assemblyman Francis Worley who said today he will offer an amendment when the bill reaches the House floor.

The amendment would remove the Historical and Museum Commission from the new department. Worley said he favors keeping the commission in its present independent status. "Our historical sites and traditions are too important to become a subject for political maneuvering," Worley said.

He added that he has had letters from Adams Countians urging that the historical commission not be included in the proposed department. The bill creating the new department is No. 1561.

IKE TO SPEAK AT GIANT GOP HERSHEY RALLY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has indicated he will be on hand as one of the main speakers at a giant Pennsylvania Republican rally in nearby Hershey June 26, it was reported today.

A Republican source, who did not want to be identified by name, added that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is expected to be present if his schedule permits.

Only a last minute alteration of his schedule would keep Eisenhower from attending, the source said.

FULFILL PLEDGE

The former president's presence would fulfill a pledge made earlier to help state Republicans start building party machinery for the crucial 1962 gubernatorial election campaign.

If it comes off, it would mark the first time since Eisenhower and Nixon left office that they have appeared on the same speaking program.

Eisenhower had a Gettysburg reunion several weeks ago with his one-time cabinet aides but a prior commitment on the West Coast kept Nixon from attending.

Although the June dinner will be in large measure a testimonial to Eisenhower and Nixon, it is certain to become a vehicle for the start of large-scale efforts to rejuvenate the GOP for next year.

Pennsylvanians also will elect a U.S. senator at that time.

CONFERRED ON POLITICS

State Chairman George I. Bloom and U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., conferred with Eisenhower at his farm home two weeks ago on Pennsylvania politics.

Afterward, they announced that the former president agreed to serve in an advisory role with the state GOP. They also said at that time Eisenhower would be honored at a rally "sometime in June."

Since then, GOP leaders have been busy lining up as many big names as possible for the dinner.

Eisenhower was feted at Hershey once before on the occasion of his first birthday in the White House. That was a $100-a-plate affair which enriched the party treasury.

RENEWS PLEA FOR SAFETY ON PUBLIC ROADS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Lawrence renewed a plea for safe driving today as the highway death toll reached 14 in Pennsylvania with the long Memorial Day weekend nearing its end.

Meanwhile, two persons died in a fire near Pittsburgh and other accidents claimed four lives, pushing the overall accidental death toll to 20 since the start of the reporting period at 6 p.m. last Friday.

The crucial period will be tonight when thousands of persons will be returning home, jamming the highways.

Lawrence said that "if every motorist will stay within the state speed laws, and observe the various warning signs along the highways, we can come through the holiday period with a great saving lives."

The holiday period ends at midnight tonight, covering 106 hours.

For comparative purposes an Associated Press poll was conducted over a similar period from Friday May 12 until Tuesday May 16. During that time, 14 persons died in traffic accidents, three drowned and three died in other mishaps for an overall total of 29.

Up until midnight Monday night no fatal boating accidents or drownings had been reported. Bad weather in some parts of the state had limited activity in this area.

YOUTH IS KILLED

Monday's victims included: Beaver Falls—An auto swerved out of control and overturned on the Pennsylvania Turnpike killing Myntolea Williams, 45, Cleveland, Ohio.

Lititz—James A. Long, 8, Lititz, was killed when a car struck the bicycle he was riding on a rural road near Brunnerville, about 2½ miles north of here.

Philadelphia—Nadia Chaykovsky, seven months, choked to death on a plastic mattress cover.

Tunkhannock—Charles R. Bryant, 25, Falls R. 1, was killed in a head-on crash of his car with a coal-laden trailer police said was operated by a friend and neighbor, Joseph M. Maravelli, 25, Stonecrest, on Route 92, 1½ miles south of here.

FIREMEN CALLED

Gettysburg firemen were called Monday afternoon when smoke filled the office of Col. John Eisenhower at President Eisenhower's office on the college campus. Four fire trucks responded to the alarm.

Firemen found on their arrival that the ballast in a fluorescent light had burned out, filled Colonel Eisenhower's office with smoke. The fire however did not spread. An electrician was summoned to replace the damaged light.

HONOR DEAD AT OBSERVANCES ACROSS STATE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pennsylvanians paused today to honor their war dead with memorial services and other observances.

While there were scores of memorial services across the state, two of the most prominent were in the Philadelphia area.

The Philadelphia Chapter of the 26th Infantry Division held memorial services at the National Cemetery in Beverly, N.J. And combined services were held in Philadelphia's famous Chapel of Four Chaplains.

In Coatesville, Rep. Paul B. Dague, R-Pa., was on the agenda as the main speaker for cornerstone laying ceremonies at the Veterans Hospital.

A memorial plaque was to be dedicated at Darby Township Junior High School in Glenolden in Delaware County.

Several parades throughout the state also were on tap including the Southwest Philadelphia Memorial Day parade and Little League parades in Pittsburgh's North and South Parks.

A highlight of the day's activities were ceremonies in Gettysburg at the National Cemetery where President Lincoln delivered his immortal address 98 years ago.

congregations of the Maryland Synod in West Virginia and Virginia will be placed in other synods while some congregations in Delaware will be added to Maryland Synod.

Debate was being conducted today on a proposal to establish a full-time secretary for the synod. If the proposal goes through, the offices of secretary and statistician will be combined and part of the treasurer's duties would also be combined with the new secretary post.

Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, president of the synod, reported today that the congregations of the Maryland Synod during the last year had "increased giving commendably."

TO FORM NEW CHURCH

Giving for congregational uses totaled $4,189,584; contributions to "benevolences," missions, education, etc., totaled $1,062,204, an increase of $62,000 over the prior year and contributions to Lutheran World Action, the fund for caring for refugees, providing food and supplies for needy overseas, etc., totaled $81,892.18.

Organization of a new congregation at Seabrook, Md., is tentatively scheduled for September, according to a report at the session. A mission was established there in April, 1960, with Rev. William M. Stemel in charge. Services are held in DuVal High School. A parsonage has been purchased and negotiations are underway for a site for the church.

NATIVES NEAT, CLEAN

Dr. Voss showed slides taken of the work and of the natives who are "neat and clean. Whenever you find a pond, there you find the women washing clothes. A good many who have been at the missionary schools are well educated."

Present in Africa during the winter months, Dr. Voss said, "You have a late fall and an early spring. The trees defoliate and about a month later are in full leaf again."

Commenting on the names for trees in Liberia, Dr. Voss observed: "Liberia was settled by freed American slaves. When they saw a tree they named it for what it looked like in America, even though it might botanically be no relation to the tree of the same appearance here."

President William Lentz presided at the meeting. He announced appointment of Rev. Robert MacAskill as chairman of the Rotary float for the July 6 parade.

SCHOLARSHIP IS AWARDED TO MISS BOWMAN

Miss Mary Jane Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Bowman, McSherrystown, and a sophomore majoring in home economics at Misericordia College, Dallas, Penna., has been awarded a scholarship to attend Camp Merrowista June 25 to July 9 at Ossipee, N. H., Helen D. Tunison, extension home economist, announced today. She was selected by the state 4-H staff at Pennsylvania State University.

Camp Merrowista is a Christian leadership training camp operated by the American Youth Foundation.

HAS FINE RECORD
Miss Bowman's outstanding record in 4-H Club work began eight years ago with foods and baby beef projects. She then worked in home furnishings, clothing, electric, outdoor cooking, flower gardening, entomology and town and county business.

During the past three years, as a 4-H junior leader, she has twice served as chairman of the county 4-H roundup. Last year, she was secretary of the Adams County 4-H council and served as councilor for 4-H congress at Penn State. She has been a county delegate to the 4-H leadership school and Kanestake Leadership Training Camp. She is often called to lead singing and recreation at county 4-H and Tri-County 4-H camp events.

Miss Bowman was co-editor of her high school yearbook, a member of the glee club and county chorus.

SUGAR MILL IN CUBA BURNS; $300,000 LOSS

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Fire that caused an estimated $300,000 damage swept through the Santa Rosa sugar mill in Las Villas Province, Havana radio reported today.

The broadcast quoted authorities as saying the fire had been set by saboteurs.

Sabotage has been on the increase throughout Cuba during the past few days, leaving 42 persons injured, including 27 children.

The government has threatened to deal out revolutionary justice to those responsible. This would mean they could face firing squads.

THEATER IS BOMBED

Havana radio reported that a Pinar del Rio theater was bombed Sunday during a children's matinee. The car of a Castro prosecutor was dynamited early Sunday.

In the Pinar del Rio incident, 26 children and 14 adults reportedly were burned after a phosphorous bomb was thrown into the theater.

Palayo Fernandez Rubio, assistant prosecutor in the dreaded Havana revolutionary tribunal, was said to have been injured when starting his car. His infant son also was reported hurt by a bomb which had apparently been connected to the car's ignition system.

BLAME U.S. CIA

Cuban broadcasts blamed the sabotage on the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and the underground network of Manuel Ray, at one time a member of Castro's cabinet.

Ray denied in Miami that any children had been injured in the Pinar del Rio action. He said the Cuban radio "must have falsified the news."

Last week Ray said his organization had been responsible for two warehouse fires in Havana. One fire reportedly caused the loss of 1,000 bales of tobacco valued at $120,000.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro and the Cuban government radio remained silent on the fate of the 1,214 prisoners captured in the April invasion.

There was no indication whether Castro was prepared to accept the bulldozers-for-prisoners terms brought back Saturday by a 10-prisoner committee which sent a week in the United States negotiating for the machines demanded by Castro for the release of their companions.

tention to the fact that the ICC and the Supreme Court over the last several years repeatedly have struck down racial discriminations in interstate travel by railroad and bus.

What he asked the ICC to do was to clear up any doubts by putting into a single brief document a summation of the prohibitions against any form of racial segregation in the interstate service.

ICC Chairman Everett Hutchinson, a Texas Democrat and an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said in response to an inquiry he did not consider it appropriate to comment on the attorney general's petition, other than to say "it will be considered carefully."

TO GRADUATE AT WELLESLEY

Miss Ileana Zagars, 50 W. Broadway, is among the 384 candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts of Wellesley College.

Wellesley's 83rd annual commencement will take place on the campus in Wellesley, Mass., Monday morning when degrees will be conferred by Miss Margaret Clapp, president of the college.

Preceding the graduation ceremony, seniors and their guests will take part in a full weekend of activities including the traditional class supper, parents' dinner, president's reception and baccalaureate vespers by the choir.

Very Rev. John B. Coburn, dean of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., will present the sermon at the baccalaureate service Sunday morning and the commencement address on Monday will be by Mrs. Vera Michels Dean, scholar, author and lecturer in the field of international affairs who is editor of the Foreign Policy Association—World Affairs Center.

Miss Zagars is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Waldemar Zagars. She prepared for college at the Shipley School in Bryn Mawr and has majored in physics at Wellesley. Recipient of three citations for high academic achievement at the college, she is an associate member of Sigma Xi, the national scientific honor society, and this year is also treasurer of the Senior Class. She has been an official campus guide for prospective students visiting Wellesley and one year was elected representative of her class in her dormitory.

CITES DAVE'S STORE OPENING

The "Diamond Dealer News," a publication of Agfa, Inc., Glendale, Calif., features a story this month on Dave's Photo Supply, which recently moved to new quarters at 244 Steinwehr Ave.

Dave Garfinkle, proprietor of the store, gave two reasons for making the change: The new site has become the heart of the tourist traffic, and a private parking lot next to store makes it much easier for customers to visit the store than was possible at the downtown location on Chambersburg St.

The article stated that Garfinkle got the maximum promotional value from his new store by conducting an open house for eight days, by advertising in The Gettysburg Times a total of 500 inches of ads on four different days in support of the open house, as well as a front page news story. It said the "newspaper, on its own initiative, organized the ad campaign and solicited the ads from manufacturers." In addition, he paid for 75 spot announcements on WGET announcing the event.

Garfinkle said the "whole show was well worth the effort and expense."

CAR DAMAGED

Damage totaled $100 but the driver, Roberta Gentry, Muncasburg, escaped injury when she drove her car off the Harrisburg Rd. north of here Monday morning to avoid striking a dog which had run into the highway, state police reported today.

HOLD ANNUAL SERVICES AT LITTLESTOWN

The annual service and parade in observance of Memorial Day was held in Littlestown on Monday evening as arranged by the Allied Veterans Council.

The Rev. Dr. John E. Metz, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, presented the memorial address in Mt. Carmel Cemetery. He used as his subject the fifth chapter of St. Paul beginning "Once the earthly tent dwelling of ours has come to an end, God, we are sure, has a solid building waiting for us, a dwelling not made by hands." Father Metz said, "There is loose in the world today a belief that amounts to a crusade of hate, that has as its banner, not the cross of God, but the banner of the hammer and sickle, of atheistic communism; a most diabolic crusade of religion without God, whose creed is that the individual is nothing, the state is everything and everybody must be subjected to this state, the Communist organization."

"We face a more subtle dagger than those heroes and heroines who gave their lives in previous wars, that we might have freedom. It is for us the living to see to it that these honored dead might not have died in vain," the speaker paraphrased the immortal words of Lincoln. "The price of freedom from communism is eternal vigilance, and an intellectual approach to a problem which is primarily intellectual; we must do what is right and put down what is wrong; there is no middle course; truth is immutable and must be vigorously defended." Father Metz concluded his address with the words "Be vigilant — only by adhering to the solid body of truth, in the Declaration of Independence and in the Bill of Rights, can we preserve our way of life, which we know to be a good, proper and free way; to worship Almighty God and to prepare during this life as tent dwellers for the ineffably more beautiful life which He has prepared in Heaven for those who love Him."

GALL PRESIDES
Elmer W. Gall was master of ceremonies for the service, which opened with the invocation by the Rev. William R. Jones, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, and there was a selection by the Littlestown High School Band, under the direction of Paul A. Harner. Following the speaker, the band played "America," and the gun salute by these members of the Detail, who comprised the rifle squad: Ralph R. Ruggles, James D. Rang, Elmer W. M. Duttera, Guy L. Conover and Albert Boyd. Taps were played by William Noel and William Reese of the Drum and Bugle Corps, and benediction pronounced by the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ United Church of Christ.

A parade preceded the service in the cemetery and was witnessed by crowds along the street. The lineup included: Littlestown police, heads of the local veterans organizations and auxiliaries; massed colors of Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 8654, "Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Alpha Fire Company No. 1 and their color guards and the included Stewart N. Long, Albert Zercher, Marvin F. Breighner, Chester S. Byers, James Riley, Charles F. Brindinger, Harold Bancroft, Leo S. Riley, Bernard Kuhns, James Kuhns, Earl J. Weaver, John Harner and Robert Crouse; the VFW auxiliary colors and color guard, Helen Jacobs, Madalyn Bloom, Mildred Weaver and Betty Redding; the speaker and members of the Littlestown Ministerium; borough councilmen; veterans of World War I, in dress; Harold H. Bair Post No. 14, Drum and Bugle Corps, Hanover; Marshals Ivan E. Arentz and Oscar Sentz on horseback; officers and executive board of the Woman's Community Club; Adams County fire police; Eta Tau Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority; Rotary Club; Junior Woman's Club; Lions Club; Richard J. Gross VFW Post, East Berlin; marshals, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Barnes; Blue Band; the Scottettes, baton group; grade school children, accompanied by several teachers; Littlestown High School Gold Band, under the direction of Robert C. Musser; JoAnn's Cadets, baton group; Boy Scouts of Troop 84, accompanied by Scoutmaster Edgar A. Wolfe and Assistant Scoutmaster John R. Rudisill; Girl Scouts, accompanied by leaders, Mrs. James George Schaefer, Mrs. James O. Ramsey and Mrs. George Rhodes; Cub Scouts, accompanied by Cubmaster Alvah L. Stonieser Jr. and den mothers, Mrs. Denton Barnhart and Mrs. William Waltz; members of the Littlestown Little League, Edgar W. Wisotzky of the VFW was grand marshal in charge of the parade lineup.

As the parade reached the Veterans' Memorial on S. Queen St. there was a pause while wreaths were placed and a brief memorial was given by Rev. Glenn Flinchbaugh, pastor of Redeemer's United Church of Christ. Wreaths were placed by Legion burg, and Emma Thorn Beckley, Harrisburg. Two others in the class survive.

Robert Sheads of the high school faculty was spokesman for the 45th anniversary class of 1916 with six of the original 35 members present. They were Kathryn Deardorff Snyder, Margaret Tipton Spangler, Ruth Bream Mellinger, Mary Galbraith Trout and Marian Stallsmith Halter.

Henry M. Scharf, Gettysburg, was the spokesman for the 14 members of the 40-member class of 1921 who gathered for their 40th anniversary reunion. He said 34 of the 40 are living.

OTHER REUNION GROUPS

Miss Ruth McDannell, a Methodist pastor from Burnt Cabins, Pa., spoke for the class of 1926, here for their 35th reunion. She said 19 of the 76 members of that class were present.

The 30th anniversary class of 1931 had 31 on hand with Attorney Donald M. Swope of Gettysburg as the spokesman. Former principal G. W. Lefever was a guest of the class which numbered 97 at graduation.

Arlene Clapsaddle Murray of Gettysburg spoke for the 25th anniversary class of 1936 and reported 17 members present. Sarah Jane Maust Buhrman reported 33 members of the 20th anniversary class of 1941 in attendance. Ruth Fortenbaugh Craley, Red Lion, responded for the class of 1946 and said 30 of her class of 97 were attending the banquet.

31 AT FIRST REUNION

The 10th anniversary class of 1951 had 50 at the banquet and Attorney Jack Thrush was their spokesman. He said a count showed the class to date has produced 159 children and that 16 members of the class married classmates.

The fifth anniversary class of 1956 had 31 present and Waldo Hartman of Winchester, Va., responded. He said 45 of the class are married and to date are the parents of 53 children. Flowers on the class reunion table were in memory of Fred Furney, Navy aviator who lost his life last year, only deceased member of the class.

Flowers from the speakers' table went to Mrs. C. B. Dougherty, Carlisle St., one of the eldest graduates of the high school. She was a member of the class of 1886 but was unable to attend for her 75th reunion year.

GUESTS INTRODUCED

The invocation was given by the Rev. Martin McClellan, Sharon Hill, Pa., a member of the 25th reunion class. Senior President Robert Dean responded to the welcome to the alumni association and David Johnson and Walter Griest, yearbook staff heads, presented two copies of this year's Cannon Aid to the association.

President Harbaugh introduced Dr. L. C. Keefe, retired superintendent of schools who holds an honorary life membership in the association; former high school principal G. W. Lefever, Superintendent of School H. Edgar Riegle, High School Principal Clifford B. Snowberger, other guests, alumni officers and committee heads. Miss Dorothy Brindle, former music instructor here, was introduced specially.

DANCE FOLLOWS

After the banquet, the annual dance was held in the school gymnasium to the music of the Mello-Tones, President Harbaugh and Miss Ruth McIlhenny led the grand march.

A program at intermission was emceed by Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler and included group singing led by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Zapf; reading of an excerpt of his prize-winning DAR essay by Sanford Hyson; vocal solos by Milton Green accompanied by Allan Hoke, both of the graduating class; selections by the little German Band known as the "Hungry Five" and including Barclay Collins, Fred Tilberg, Ed Longaneck.

Commander Beaven F. Hanlon; Legion Auxiliary President Mrs. James W. Fager; VFW Commander Walter S. Mehring, and VFW Auxiliary President Mrs. Rita Hoke.

OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY IS URGED

"The days we celebrate tend with the passage of time to lose their original meaning," Lt. Corvan S. Bryan, Cashtown, said Sunday at the annual Memorial Day observance at Flohr's Church.

"Thanksgiving is divided between football games, the toyland parade and the annual turkey dinner. Christmas tends to be a time for family reunion and the exchange of gifts. We are likely to observe Memorial Day and the 4th of July by attending double-header baseball games or picnics. There is something to be said for these observances, but it is well to reserve at least a fragment of each holiday for reflection in keeping with the day's original purpose.

"Memorial Day is the time when we should at least briefly march once again with the heroes of the past. Life is surrounded by forces which helped make us what we are. We are all recipients of blessings which we did not earn, sacrifices we did not make. Whenever we stand up in public to speak, whenever we enter the church to worship, whenever we go into a booth to vote, we need be grateful to the sacrifices and devotion of others. John Adams, one of the founding fathers of our republic, once wrote to 'Posterity—you will never know how much it cost the present generation to preserve your freedom! I hope you will make good use of it. If you do not, I shall repent it in heaven that I ever took half the pains to preserve it.'"

Recalling that the Grand Army of the Republic founded Memorial Day, Col. Bryan told the group: "It was early in May, 1863, that the adjutant general of the GAR received a letter from a comrade in Cincinnati who was from Germany. He wrote of a custom there for people to assemble in the spring and scatter flowers on the graves of the dead. He suggested the GAR do the same. That same month

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Memorial Day Starts Early

Memorial Day dawned bright and fair in Gettysburg and it was not many minutes after sunrise when the first citizen started to prepare for the events of the day. By the time the wagons for the curb market started to roll in, the four corners of the square had begun to look like the refreshment section of a county fair and practically every available space for eating or souvenir stands was soon taken up.

The usual visitors came early. Cheap Bill with his assortment, varying from razors to shoe strings, was stationed in front of Hotel Gettysburg and early in the morning started to exploit the merits of his wares. The "jewelry" stands were in evidence as usual and sandwich, lemonade and ice cream cone tables were everywhere to be seen.

High School Alumni Banquet

In recognition of her faithful services as a teacher in the Gettysburg High School, Miss Helen Cope was on Tuesday evening presented with a handsome loving cup by the members of the High School Alumni Association who held their tenth annual banquet at the Eagle Hotel. The presentation was made by Mrs. Rufus Bushman and Miss Cope responded.

Preceding the banquet the annual meeting of the alumni was held and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Calvin Hartman; vice president, Ernest Ziegler; secretary, Miss Grace Sachs; treasurer, Charles Culp.

Laying Dust On Springs Avenue

Spings Avenue has been "oiled," the work of placing on the preparation having been commenced Monday and completed today. From all appearances the experiment is going to be a success in every way.

The residents of the pretty west end street determined upon a preparation of granulated calcium chloride which sells under the name of Solvay. It looks like the ordinary coarse salt but, as soon as placed on the road draws moisture and quickly dissolves, giving an appearance like machine oil. It has little stickiness about it and the usual objection to oil on this account is avoided.

Vehicles Collide

A collision between a buggy and a heavy Dayton wagon, on the new estate road through Brushstown on Saturday evening, resulted in serious injuries to Miss Mattie Wentz of Hanover, who had her right arm dislocated at the wrist and the elbow sprained, with lacerations of her face and neck.

The occupants of the teams were Charles Shultz, Miss Wentz and Miss Louise Billman of New Oxford, in the buggy, and a Mr. Krutchen and several ladies in a two-horse Dayton. It was rather dark and neither driver observed the approach of the team coming in the opposite direction.

Depleting Forests

Great forest fires of recent years and the keen edge of the woodman's axe have almost absolutely denuded thousands of acres of land on the South Mountains, and on property owned by the South Mountain Iron and Coal Company, so that at the present day, visitors to the spot say, one may stand at the base of the ranges and see the summit as easily as from a place of elevation, and the surface, where once grew a million feet of the finest kind of lumber, is now covered with low shrubbery. Although the woodman with his axe has been working on these hills for many years, yet it is believed by many of the south side residents that forest fires of the past few years did even more to clip the mountains of their foliage.

Insect-eating plants can suffer from gluttony. If overfed, they die prematurely.

Today's Talk

YOUR INWARD SELF

Two friends met. They had not seen each other for 30 years—since they were college classmates. One was bald, the other was gray about the temples. Yet neither seemed to take note of the changes that had outwardly taken place. For both were successful, both were happy and both were useful.

Every day marks a change, though ever so small, to the physical man or woman—but your inward self is a spring of youth that may not change in a thousand years—if you but will it.

This life is a playground and a workshop for the specific education of your inner self. The years have no interest in your mere age as such. Science teaches nothing clearer or plainer than that your inner self cannot die. Does not tottering age look back and smile at buoyant youth, and can it feel the change, so long as love was there and is here now?

Your inner self was born to be immortal. In immortality—was it conceived? Or else love is a phantom and noble effort a worthless dream within a dream.

If the work of the day tends to make your body weak and tired—and if the discouragements and battles of the years have scarred the skin and made the bones to ache—listen to this—your inner self—it may never grow OLD or discouraged or battle-scarred. For it is your real self for which your first breath was given.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Encourage." Protected, 1961, by The George Matthews Adams Service

MEMORIAL DAY

Blow gently, winds of May,
And softly stir the trees,
Whispering today
The love we bear to these
Who sleep that silent sleep,
At rest for evermore.
Blow gently, winds of May,
Their warfare now is o'er.

Blow gently, winds of May,
Bearing the perfume rare
Of blossoms o'er the way;
Rose petals scatter there;
The starry flag we place
In glory on each grave,
Catch in a fond embrace
For us and proudly wave.

Blow gently, winds of May,
Shine softly, summer sun;
Our heroes sleep today,
Their duty nobly done.
And with the flag they loved,
And flowers, we come today
To honor those who sleep.
Blow gently, winds of May.

Mrs. J. Harry Taylor, Wilmington, Del., spent last week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fern Hitchcock Jr., and family, R. 1.

Mrs. Helen Jones, Baltimore, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn and family, Emmitsburg Rd.

Thursday at 8 p.m. the Women's Guild of Grace United Church of Christ will meet. The program will be in charge of the stewardship committee, Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. George Fream, co-chairmen. The topic is "The Witness of the Mission of the Church Through My Vocation." Six special numbers will be rendered by young folks of the church as part of the regular program.

The Churchmen's Brotherhood will meet at the same time with Murray Baumgardner in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Okerlund, Essex, Md., were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Okerlund's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Taylor, W. Baltimore St.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hockensmith, Crouse Mill Rd., were Mr. and Mrs. William Unger, Stevens Point, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and son, Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shorb.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the social room of the fire house with President Pauline Vaughn presiding.

Mrs. Donald Gunther and daughter, Kathy, Hampstead, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bollinger, R. 1.

The Emmanuel Lutheran Church League of Manchester will be guests of Trinity Lutheran Church League Sunday at 3 o'clock in Memorial Park.

Miss G. L. Smith, Boston, Mass., is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt MacPherson, Roberts Mill Rd.

HOUSE TRIMS
USIA BUDGET TO $16.69 MILLION

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's request for a bigger budget for the U.S. Information Agency was turned down Monday by the House Appropriations Committee which trimmed it $16.69 million.

The reduced budget did not, however, affect the Voice of America, the information agency's program of foreign broadcasting.

The President originally sought $151.48 million for the USIA, this country's foreign propaganda organization. Last Thursday, in a special message to Congress, he asked that "the funds previously requested for this effort not only be approved in full but increased."

The requested increase amounted to about $3 million.

OTHERS INVOLVED

The committee action was included in a $751.3-million bill financing the State and Justice departments, the USIA, the federal courts and the Civil Rights Commission for the fiscal year starting July 1.

All the agencies except the Civil Rights Commission were cut.

The Civil Rights Commission, which expires next November unless Congress extends its life, was given the $302,000 it requested.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation received the entire $127.2 million it sought, including funds for employment of 50 more agents. It was the tenth consecutive year that the FBI budget was allowed in full.

$950,000 FOR PLAYS

The committee questioned the advisability of USIA spending $950,000 to stage plays in Europe and South America with actors' salaries running as high as $2,500 per week.

The State Department share of the bill, slated for House debate next Thursday, was $267.48 million, a cut of $31.89 million from presidential request.

The department's foreign building program was cut $10.8 million as the committee complained about "unrealistic and exorbitant" construction plans for houses and buildings in Ankara, Turkey; and Kabul, Afghanistan.

The entire $61.58 million for U.S. contributions to international organizations was approved. The largest item was $28.45 million for the United Nations.

Favor Globemaster In Jersey Stakes

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Eight outstanding 3-year-olds were set today for the running of the $100,000-added Jersey Derby at Garden State Park with Leonard P. Sasso's Fleet Globemaster the even money favorite to win.

The weatherman predicted a sunny, cool day and a fast track for the 1 1/4-mile run won last year by Bally Ache. A Memorial Day crowd of some 50,000 was expected.

Rated second and third favorites were Fred W. Hooper's Crozier at 7-5 and Jacob Sher's Sherluck at 8-1.

Carry Back, Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner who beat both Globemaster and Crozier, was not entered in the derby. Trainer and co-owner Jack Price by-passed the race to enter Carry Back in the Belmont Stakes Saturday for a shot at the triple crown.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Six and son, Jay, Frederick, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Smith, Antrim St.

The annual Children's Day service will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church today morning at 10 a.m. All members of the Youth Choir are asked to be present at rehearsal Thursday evening at 7. Rehearsal for the various departments will begin at 7:30 on Friday; the nursery department at 7:30, the beginners' department at 7:45, the primary department at 8 and junior department at 8:15.

Mrs. Fern Hitchcock, Franklin St., returned home Sunday after visiting relatives in Passaic, N. J., and Bensenville.

Mrs. Henry Sharrer and son, Raymond, Sharrer, Pikesville, Md., were recent dinner guests of Mrs. John Hoagland, E. Baltimore St.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller and Mr. and Mrs. George Goss and daughters, Kathleen and Margaret, Mt. Union, Pa., were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hiltbrink, R. 2.

Miss Edith Baumgardner arrived home Saturday from Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., to spend three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Delmar Baumgardner, E. Baltimore St. She will return to college for a summer course and will be home August 3.

A graduation dinner was held Friday evening at Schottie's Restaurant, Littlestown, for nine life insurance agents in this area who completed a 25-week-long training course held by the Life Underwriters Training Council. The sessions were among 2,000 similar courses held by the Life Underwriters throughout the U.S. at the same time. William E. Meistering, Baltimore, was moderator for the course. Chester S. Shriver, Gettysburg R. 6, president of the class, presented Meistering with a certificate of appreciation from the members. The graduates and teacher included, seated, left to right, Fred Nagle, Fairfield; Eugene A. Rhoten, Manchester; Meistering; William Creager, Westminster; Arthur Garvin Jr., Taneytown; standing, Shriver, Thomas Tracey, Charles Bank, K. Wayne Lockard and Kenneth Inskeep, all of Westminster.

Memorial Day Described As Seen From Other Viewpoint

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following Memorial Day column first published in 1966 found its way into many family scrapbooks then. It is reprinted today as still timely.

By HAL BOYLE

ANY CEMETERY, U.S.A. (AP) — Dialogue under the headlines: George, vintage '18: Well, here it is another Memorial Day. Wonder who'll come?

Jim, vintage '17: Who cares?

Clem, vintage '64: Not me. I'm not expecting visitors.

Charley, vintage '63: Me neither. It's been a long, long time for both of us. But restful.

Joe, vintage '43: I'd like to see my folks again.

Frank, vintage '50: I never had no folks—unless you can call an orphan home Daddy. But Edith, my girl, she said she'd never forget. But she had only come here once to see me.

ELDERLY WOMAN PRAYED

Jim: I had folks once a long time ago, but I ran away young, and wasn't the kind of kid they'd exactly want to remember.

An elderly woman came and knelt above George, prayed a few moments, then walked away, her head down.

George: Stella! When I kissed her goodby she said if I didn't come back she'd never marry again. That was what?—38 years ago. She looks so old and tired and lonely. Does she really think that's the way I wanted it? If I could only have left her a son.

Four people. An elderly couple and a young couple, came to Joe's headstone, decked it with flowers, and spoke of him lovingly as they sat down on the grass and opened a picnic lunch.

Joe: Mom! Dad! And my kid brother! How big he is! The girl with him must be his wife. Imagine Harry being married. How fast things change—up there.

CONFEDERATES REMEMBER

A Delegation from the Sons of the Confederacy arrived, planted a waving flag the Stars and Bars, by Clem's grave, listened to a brief speech then departed.

Charley: I don't know what happened to the Sons of the Grand Army of the Republic this year, Johnny Reb, but your side remembered you.

Clem: Why shouldn't they.

Yankee? Who do you think won the war? But it was a mighty terrible, short speech.

George, musingly: Wars and speeches. Speeches and wars. I wonder if we all had it to do over again, whether we'd—

WAR TALES

George: I was crawling through some barbed wire near Chateau Thierry when a Hun sniper—

Clem: I was crying for water in a Yankee prison. I had the fever bad. And suddenly I was taken with a coughing fit and—

Charley: I was thirsty, too, Reb, on that third day at Gettysburg when I lifted my head, and a bullet came and—

Joe: I wanted wings, and I was guiding a bomber over Germany when we ran into a flak burst, and—well I won my second pair.

Frank: I was in the Marines, just turned 20, when we landed in Korea. Didn't even have time to hate anybody. Five minutes after we started up the first hill, a mortar hit at my feet. Aw, who cares now? Where's Edith? She was only 18 when she promised she'd always—couldn't she come just this once?

MOTHER CRIES FOR SON

Charley: Never mind, son. You'll get used to it. Anyway, maybe she misses you in ways you don't even know.

Frank: But Edith was the only girl I really ever knew, the only one I ever had a chance to know.

The family group above Joe rose to go. His mother, the last to rise, suddenly knelt down again, put her lips to his name

Continue Probe Of Relay Stations

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — FBI agents investigating the of three telephone relay stations kept mum on their progress today while armed guards patrolled scores of other such facilities in the West and Midwest.

Telephone crews, using portable equipment, expected to restore service today at the two microwave and one cable relay stations destroyed by a mystery dynamite in Utah and Nevada early Sunday.

Col. C. M. MacGregor, commander of western Utah's Tooele Ordnance Depot, said Tooele demolition experts had tabbed the explosive used as World War II demolition gear.

"Since 1945," Col. MacGregor said, "undisclosed amounts of such explosives have been sold in America through standard surplus property disposal offices."

Col. MacGregor said because of this, he doubted that officials charges.

FCC HEAD IS CRITICAL OF OWN MEDIUM

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the Federal Communications Commission, Newton N. Minow, recently made headlines and started a fierce intra-television controversy with a sear criticizing the medium. He called television a "vast wasteland."

Mail immediately started to pour in — some defending television, some endorsing Minow.

But one viewer took pen in hand to inform the FCC chairman that he had looked, but couldn't find any TV program called "The Vast Wasteland."

HAGERTY SWAPS LAWRENCE

ABC's news vice president, James Hagerty, has hired away William H. Lawrence, for 20 years a Washington correspondent of the New York Times to be political editor in the fast-expanding network news department.

Lawrence, who has been a frequent questioner on NBC's "Meet the Press" leaves today with Hagerty to cover President Kennedy's European trip.

With CBS planning a series of "conversations" with former President Dwight Eisenhower and ABC talking about series to be called "The Roosevelt Years" and "The Eisenhower Years," former President Harry S. Truman must have been feeling snubbed by TV recently.

However, David Susskind's Talent Associates now is discussing a series on "The Truman Years" with the man from Independence who is said to be interested and receptive.

MAKE DRAMATIC DEBUT

Shari Lewis, the pert little ventriloquist with a weekly childrens show on NBC, will make her dramatic debut on CBS' Steel Hour on July 12—playing a TV columnist. Sunday's Walt Disney Show on ABC had the longest commercial of the year—almost half the program was devoted to picturing the delights of Disneyland.

Recommended tonight: "Not So Long Ago," NBC 10-11 (EIT)—re-run of the Project 20 musical reprise of the years 1943-50; "The Flabby American," ABC, 10-10:30—documentary on a national decline in physical fitness.

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—

As anticipated, President Kennedy is making plans to spend part of the hot weather season in his summer White House on the Cape Cod shore.

Kennedy has been here since Saturday night, staying in the home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, while preparing for his conferences later this week with French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Europe.

The President owns his own home in the Kennedy "compound" but it is being repainted.

USE OTIS AFB

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, inspected facilities at Otis Air Force Base this morning. That base about 18 miles by road from the Kennedy summer home, would provide office space.

Kennedy could hop by helicopter from his home to Otis in a few minutes.

Salinger said it is possible the President will operate from Cape Cod sometime in August. Kennedy has been expected to stay in Washington until Congress adjourns. When Congress is able to wind up its work is always uncertain, but leaders are aiming at adjournment around Aug. 1.

Yorky, Plum Cake, Black Darter and Vapor Whirl all scored the first stakes victories of their careers during the Hialeah meeting.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Holiday

foundlay: MGM gets the mostest of its last commitment with Debbie Reynolds. She's the only star to do two segments in the episodic "How the West Was Won." She's mad, but only because the two four-week locations will keep her from her family. Kim Novak aims to sell her Hollywood home, like the New York life better.

Whatever happened to Ben-Hur's best girl, Haya Hayareet? And to 20th-Fox's Ruth, Elana Eden? Wonder how Bill Holden likes daughter Virginia making her film debut as a floozie in "A Walk on the Wild Side." Walter Wanger figures to be spending much of his future in Alexandria, what with "Cleopatra" to be followed by Lawrence Durrell's "Justine."

WANTS TO BE ACTRESS

You'll hate yourself for falling for such an improbable tale as "The Guns of Navarone," but fall you will. The best adventure yarn since "River Kwai." Quote from Jill St. John: "For the first time, I really want to be an actress. Before, I just wanted to be a movie star, with all the trappings."

Good news: Henry Fonda coming to do a couple of films this year. He's one of the great screen originals: one hit film could put him back among the leaders.

Fred Astaire plays a London embassy official in "Notorious Landlady," got technical advice from his old friend, John Hay Whitney, recent ambassador to the Court of St. James. Fantastic is the word for business being done by "The Absent-Minded Professor." Is it that funny? No, but it's fun, and you can take the whole family.

JFK TO SUMMER ON CAPE COD

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—

As anticipated, President Kennedy is making plans to spend part of the hot weather season in his summer White House on the Cape Cod shore.

Kennedy has been here since Saturday night, staying in the home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, while preparing for his conferences later this week with French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Europe.

The President owns his own home in the Kennedy "compound" but it is being repainted.

USE OTIS AFB

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, inspected facilities at Otis Air Force Base this morning. That base about 18 miles by road from the Kennedy summer home, would provide office space.

Kennedy could hop by helicopter from his home to Otis in a few minutes.

Salinger said it is possible the President will operate from Cape Cod sometime in August. Kennedy has been expected to stay in Washington until Congress adjourns. When Congress is able to wind up its work is always uncertain, but leaders are aiming at adjournment around Aug. 1.

Yorky, Plum Cake, Black Darter and Vapor Whirl all scored the first stakes victories of their careers during the Hialeah meeting.

BIGLERVILLE RESIDENTS

All residents of Biglerville who desire to construct new sanitary sewer piping on their properties in the near future are requested to contact W. Clayton Jester to obtain the necessary application forms and instructions before undertaking any actual construction work. Property owners will not be allowed to make connection to the new Borough system until some later date, but any owner who so desires may lay new piping on his own property after contacting Mr. Jester. No sewer connection fees or rentals are to be paid at this time.

Bat Boy Who Failed To Make Team Dies When Struck On Head By Hard Line Drive

CHICAGO (AP) — George McCormick's enthusiasm for playing baseball was unbounded.

His father said he loved the game more than anything. So did the manager of a park district team for boys of 9 to 12 in suburban Park Ridge.

The 10-year-old boy's burning ambition was to become a pitcher or an infielder with the Brooks team of the Park Ridge boys baseball organization.

But the team's manager, Julian Stachowski, 38, told the slight, tow-headed lad who wore glasses with thick lens, he couldn't see well enough to make the team.

George wasn't good enough to play regularly, Stachowski said, "but he was so eager I made him bat boy because I didn't have the heart to send him away."

It was while serving as bat boy during the team's practice last Wednesday that George was hit by a line drive while standing near the pitcher's mound. He was retrieving balls thrown back from the outfield and handing them to Stachowski, who was pitching.

George, the boy with the bad eyes, apparently did not see the ball hit by Paul Weege, 12, it struck him in the right temple.

He didn't fall down or cry. Stachowski took him to the bench and put some water on his head. He appeared all right, the manager said. But he sent him home and then called George's father, Donald, a church caretaker and a scoutmaster, and told him what happened.

George's father came to the team's practice last Friday and told Stachowski that George had become ill at home, and the family physician reported he had a concussion.

He was taken to a hospital Sunday and underwent surgery. He died Monday of brain hemorrhage.

"I don't want this to become a black mark against Little League baseball," said George's father. "I think it is a good thing the McCormicks have another son, Richard, 6."

The Park Ridge league is not affiliated with the national Little League Baseball, Inc. It is operated by the park district.

All of George's fourth-grade classmates will attend funeral services Wednesday for George, a game boy, who loved to play baseball.

Nats, Reds, Yanks Attendance Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Senators drew 41,977 paid for their three-game weekend series with Minnesota and joined the New York Yankees and Cincinnati as the only big league clubs showing attendance increases over last season.

The new Senators have played before 161,130 in 17 home dates this year. In as many dates in 1960 their total was 153,771. The Yankees are up 36,000 and the Reds 8,000.

The Chicago White Sox have the largest deficit. They are 191,000 behind last season while the Los Angeles Dodgers trail their '60 aggregate by 167,000.

The Twins, who shifted from Washington during the winter, lead the American League with 340,267 customers for 24 home appearances. The new Los Angeles Angels have pulled 208,647 through the turnstiles for 23 home dates.

The overall National League total is 1,968,464—26 per cent under 1960. The American League's figure is 2,013,933 compared to 1,924,070 in 1960 when the circuit had eight teams.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — All Florida public schools, under a new state law, will offer a six-week, 30-hour course in "Americanism versus communism."

A bill requiring a course contrasting merits of American constitutional government with the evils of communism sailed through the Florida legislature with only a smattering of opposition and was signed into law Monday by Gov. Farris Bryant.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT 500 MILE FEATURE

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Possibly the biggest paying crowd ever attracted by a sports event collects today on the 350-acre Indianapolis Motor Speedway grounds for the golden anniversary 500-mile auto race.

Whether they came to see blood or competition by brave men—a point argued hotly among auto racing buffs—they poured in by scores of thousands from throughout the world. The total traditionally was a Speedway management secret.

It started in 1911 when Indianapolis auto accessory manufacturers promoted the "500" as a test of the still erratic automobile.

FOREIGN CAR ENTERED
Interest in today's 50th anniversary event was heightened by the first genuine foreign challenge in many years—world road racing champion Jack Brabham of Australia and his tiny rear-engine Cooper Climax.

Despite the sentimental bravos for Brabham, the hard fact was that the potential winner probably was among a dozen Americans who had driven thousands of miles on the old 2½-mile brick and asphalt track.

High in the list were Roger Ward, Indianapolis, and Jim Rathmann, Miami, Florida, who made a two-man race out of the last two 500s. Ward beat Rathmann by 23.27 seconds in 1959. They swapped the lead 10 times in the last 125 miles last year and Rathmann won by 12.67 seconds after Ward's right front tire wore down to the fabric.

RUETTMAN IN FIELD
Roy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., the 1952 winner, also was in the field. He led early last year before his machinery failed.

Other stout contenders included Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., who started in No. 1 position, inside on the first three-car row, for the second straight year. He won the honor and strategic advantage by being the fastest qualifier on opening day at a dazzling 147.481 miles an hour in a Dean Special, built by Wayne Ewing.

was the fastest in Speedway history excepting an almost unbelievable 149.056 last year by then rookie Jim Hurtubise of Lennox, Calif. Hurtubise was in the first row today in his sophomore year with a 146.306 trial, along with Don Branson, 40, of Champaign, Ill., who did 146.843 in a Hoover Special and was rated another solid contender.

Bad Knuckle Causes Delay Of Title Bout
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A cracked knuckle on champion Gene Fullmer's right hand has postponed his NBA middleweight title fight against Cuba's Florentino Fernandez.

The bout had been scheduled for July 8 at Ogden, Utah.

President Joe Dupler of the Intermountain Boxing Club said it now will be held and televised Aug. 5 in Ogden Stadium.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jensen, said Fullmer first noticed something wrong with his hand Saturday. He skipped regular sparring work Monday to get it examined.

A doctor said Fullmer had a tiny fracture in the knuckle of the middle finger of his right hand. He said the injury was not serious, but will prevent Fullmer from hard punching with it for three or four weeks.

Jensen said as far as he knows, Fullmer must have received the injury during regular sparring sessions sometime last week.

Sunny Weather Is Seen On Holiday
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers dampened sections of the West and a few spots in the East but pleasant sunny weather was indicated for most of the nation on Memorial Day.

Light rain fell during the morning in northern California and in parts of the central and northern plateau region. Showers sprinkled the central Plains, sections of New England and in Virginia.

It was a little cool in Northeast sections of the country, with temperatures dropping to the 30s and 40s. Readings in other parts of the country ranged from the 50s to the 70s. A high of 81 at El Paso, Tex., compared to a freezing 32 in Traverse City, Mich.

Meet In Tulsa Tennis Tourney

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, the nation's top ranked amateurs, meet for the championship today in the Tulsa Tennis Club Invitational Tournament.

Bartzen, a veteran southpaw, eliminated Frank Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., in Monday's semi-finals, 6-3, 6-3. McKinley downed former Davis Cupper Ham Richardson of Dallas, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Australians John Sharpe and Don Russell moved up into the finals of the doubles with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 decision over McKinley and Froehling.

MOUNT CAGERS TO FACE TOP POWERHOUSES

Unquestionably the most ambitious basketball schedule in Mt. St. Mary's College history is being arranged for the 1961-62 season.

Such powerhouses as Providence, National Invitation Tournament champion, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, New York University, New York AC and the Phillips Oilers will be met by the Mountaineers in addition to their regular Mason-Dixon Conference opponents.

GAME AT NEW OXFORD
All of the above opponents will be met on foreign courts with the Phillips Oilers being met on the new and spacious New Oxford High School floor.

Providence, NYU and New York AC will be met on their home floors while St. Joseph's will be met in the Palestra at Philadelphia.

During the past season Coach Jim Phelan's Mountaineers swept to a 26-5 record, capturing the Mason-Dixon regular season and tournament titles and finishing fourth in the NCAA small college tournament at Evansville, Ind.

All of the Mountaineers' regular starters will be back next season, only Jerry Savage, Jack Thompson and Tom Rudderow being lost via graduation this year.

ADMITS BEING APPROACHED
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Lawson, UCLA basketball star, has quit school after admittedly being approached by gamblers.

The 19-year-old sophomore's name was added Monday to the swelling list of college basketball players who either cooperated with professional gamblers or failed to report bribery attempts.

Wilbur Johns, director of Athletics at UCLA, said Monday that Lawson voluntarily quit the campus for failing to report immediately to his coaches that he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers.

Lawson, from Nashville, Tenn., appeared before the New York grand jury last week in connection with its investigation into point shaving by college basketball players.

FAILED TO REPORT
"Lawson appeared voluntarily," Johns said. "Since his return, he has told us he was approached by a contact man for the gamblers, but that he did not ever shave points in a game."

In Nashville, Lawson said: "The only wrong thing I did was failing to report the approach. Why I didn't report it, I just don't know."

Lawson said he was not allowed to say what UCLA game the bribe attempt was aimed and how much he was offered to shave points. He said he did not have any points.

The player said that after appearing before the grand jury he discussed the incident with UCLA officials and then decided to drop out of school.

DIRECTORS TO MEET
HARRISBURG (AP)—Members of sportsmen's organizations will get a chance to express themselves on existing regulations at a meeting Sunday with the State Fish Commission at Fishermen's Paradise near Bellefonte.

Executive Director Albert M. Day of the Fish Commission said Monday the meeting will begin at 1 p.m. The commission will hold a business session in Bellefonte the next day.

Day also said the 1962 regulations will be set during the commission's annual meeting at Harrisburg, July 10.

NEW YORK (AP) — Teen-age robbers brutally beat Harry Heiser, 76, shot him fatally and fled with his wallet containing $3 Monday night.

Heiser was attacked in a self-service elevator in a lower East Side housing project where he lived with his wife.

Police described the attackers as Spanish-speaking boys ranging in age from about 14 to 19.

DODGERS TRIM LEAD; GIANTS LOSE TO REDS

By ED WILKS
The long wait is over for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Sandy Koufax has arrived with a bang, leading the National League with six victories and topping the majors in strikeouts while putting away the longest shutout streak of the season in either league.

The young left-hander, whose lack of control has overshadowed his firepower in the past, came up with his second consecutive three-hitter Monday night, outdueling Larry Jackson for a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

That pushed the second-place Dodgers within 1½ games of front-running San Francisco after Cincinnati knocked off the Giants 5-1 in an afternoon game. No other games were scheduled.

WON 3 IN ROW
Koufax (6-2) now has won three in a row and six of his last seven decisions. He walked five and struck out 13 in this one, blanking the Cards until the ninth. A lead-off triple by Ken Boyer and a balk gave the Cards their run—and ended Sandy's shutout string at 22 innings—before Koufax fanned Hal Smith with the tying run on first.

The Dodgers also scored on a balk as they put over both runs in the eighth, Jackson (1-4), whose lone victory was a 7-2 decision over the Dodgers, had a five-hit shutout for seven frames. Then a walk and two bunts loaded the bases. Relief ace Lindy McDaniel came on and balked, forcing in a run, before giving up a winning single by Willie Davis.

This was the eighth victory in 12 games for the Dodgers (with all the victories by one run) and kept them a half-game ahead of third place Cincinnati. The Reds won their fourth in a row, and ended the Giants' string at four, as rookie Ken Hunt (5-2) nailed his first complete game in the majors with a seven-inning.

A three-run homer in the first inning by Frank Robinson, his 12th, beat southpaw Mike McCormick (5-3). The Giants scored in the fifth on singles by Chuck Hiller and Ed Bressoud and an infield out.

The Exchange Club, scoring five runs in the top of the sixth inning, went on to defeat the Phillips 66 outfit 10-9 in a thrilling game Monday evening.

Going into the top of the sixth, Phillips 66 led 8-5. With one out Smith and Treas walked and Hartman singled to load the bases. Richardson singled to left to drive in Smith and Treas. Eden followed with a hit to center to score Hartman. When Nelson walked, Herring relieved Flynn on the mound for the Phillips team. Nelson stole second base, Eden raced home on a wild pitch after which Krick walked. A passed ball enabled Nelson to scamper home with what was to prove the winning run.

A two-run homer by Jones and doubles by Hartman and Eden helped carry the Exchange to victory.

Rosensteel and Britcher each rapped doubles for the losers with Britcher adding a single and Asper a pair of singles.

WOMAN OWNER IS GOOD BET

By GEOFFREY MILLER
LONDON (AP)—Hunch players who believe that history goes in cycles will put a bet on a woman's horse winning the Epsom Derby Wednesday.

Here's the reason. Every sixth year since 1937, the great English classic for 3-year-olds has been won by a horse owned by a woman. It has been six years since it last happened.

The last woman to win the derby was Mrs. Suzy Volterra—with Phil Drake in 1955.

In 1949 Mrs. M. Glenister's Nimbus won. In 1943 it was Dorothy Paget's Straight Deal.

In 1937 Mrs. G. B. Miller's Midway Sun did it.

ONE EXCEPTION
With one exception, male owners have won every other derby in that period. Mrs. MacDonald Buchanan broke the cycle by winning with Owen Tudor in 1941.

Of the first eight horses in the betting list, three are owned by women.

Mountiers, the favorite, is entered by Mrs. R. B. Strassburg, widow of the Norristown, Pa., publisher who tried and failed for 30 years to win the famed race on Epsom Downs.

Pandora, second favorite, carries the hopes of Mrs. C. O. Ise-lin of Glen Head, N.Y.

Dicta Drake is Mrs. Volterra's big hope for repeating her 1955 success. He's the son of the 1955 winner, Phil Drake.

The 6-year cycle is the kind of hunch that appeals to Britain's once-a-year bettors. Housewives and office girls who normally never bet on a horse race, find a fancy and have a flutter on the derby.

BIG LEAGUE OPENS JUNE 6

Weber Wins Third Straight Tourney
HOUSTON (AP)—Dick Weber, the little man from St. Louis, is the first person in the history of the Professional Bowlers Association to win three consecutive tournaments.

Weber added the third Monday when he beat Joe Joseph of Detroit in two games to win the $25,000 Fred Magee Classic.

The wispy bowler beat Joseph 205-200 in the first game and took the second, 222-200. The $3,000 first place money boosted his five-tournament total for the year to $6,430.

Joseph collected $2,500 for second place. Don Carter of St. Louis, the 1960 bowler of the year, finished third to win $2,000.

BOSTON WHIPS YANKS; TIGERS ENJOYING LEAD

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Detroit Tigers, hardly puffing after a 17-game road trip that did nothing at all to discourage their pennant hopes, settled down at home with a 3½-game lead as the American League race reached the Memorial Day mark.

The Tigers left home with a 2½-game edge. They added it to five midway through the trip and even after losing three of their last four games, still arrived home better off than when they left.

In all, they were 10-7 on the tour. Detroit now plays eight at home, beginning with two against Kansas City today, goes to Chicago for two and then hustles back to Tiger Stadium for a 12-game stay.

Only one game was scheduled in the AL Monday, and right-hander Ike Delock of the Boston Red Sox pitched a five-hitter that beat New York 2-1 and ended Whitey Ford's winning streak at six. The loss dropped the third place Yankees five games behind Detroit going into today's single game at Boston.

MANY TWINBILLS
The rest of the AL's holiday schedule puts Minnesota at Cleveland for a pair with the second place Indians while fourth place Baltimore is at Chicago for two with the White Sox. The Los Angeles Angels are at Washington for a single game.

The Yankees were shut out on two singles by Delock (3-1) until Mickey Mantle hit his 11th home run with one out in the seventh for a 1-1 tie. But Boston, after losing eight in a row to New York since last Sept. 6, put it away in the bottom of the seventh Jackie Jensen, who had homered for the first run in the second inning, walked and came across on an infield out and a single by Vic Wertz.

Riding with Russell

by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Something that might help check accidents would be a magnetic brake pedal for drivers with a lead foot.

One of the problems motorists must constantly face is the habit of car troubles have of multiplying. You start with a sagging rear spring or a broken rear shock absorber and you not only get a poor ride but the car tends to dart and dive from one side of the road to the other. In addition to this wandering you are likely to find it difficult to stop in a straight line when the road surface is wet.

If the windshield wiper booster diaphragm of a dual-type fuel pump starts to leak not only will the wipers slow down on upgrades and during acceleration, but the engine will idle rough due to an excessively lean mixture. That isn't the worst of it. Spark plugs will start to foul with the oil that is being sucked up from the crankcase into the intake manifold. This will cause missing at various speeds, not to mention trouble starting the motor.

FACTS ABOUT FLASHERS

That flasher for the turn signals on your car should wink the lights at about 90 times a minute. Anything much above or below this calls for the flasher's replacement. If the telltale light for the right or the left side signals simply burns steadily you're being tipped off to the fact that there is a burned out bulb on the respective side. Failure of the indicator light means simply that its filament is burned out.

Don't be surprised some time if car engineers decide that cooling systems should not be pressurized or that it is all right to overfill the engine with oil. There are always complete reversals in design, and often with surprisingly

IS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT SESSION

LONDON (AP)—The East European Communist press and radio are cautiously optimistic about the Vienna meeting of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Some British newspapers see the President going into the talks the underdog.

You may remember when the aim was to keep the tip back a bit so that electrodes wouldn't become overheated and cause pre-ignition. Now on modern engines it is found that an extended tip exposes the electrodes to the cooling effect of inrushing gas mixture.

Oil that is working out around the cylinder head gasket may or may not mean trouble with the gasket. Sometimes this is a plain warning that sludge has clogged the oil drain passages back into the crankcase in the case of overhead valves. Such a condition would be accelerated by the fact that oil is being delivered to the valve compartment under pressure.

MECHANIC JOE SPEAKING:

"One of the oddities in this business of keeping cars in trim is the habit so many people have of going out of their way to find the causes of troubles. I am thinking now of the alternators which are used on some cars in place of conventional generators.

"It's true enough that if one of these units becomes noisy the trouble may be due to worn bearings, a shorted rectifier or a sprung rotor shaft, but why overlook the simplest cause of such noise—misalignment of the belt pulleys?"

IN THE MOTOR MAIL

Q. Recently I have been unable to start the engine of my car by coasting downhill with the selector lever in Drive and the ignition on. Some automatics won't do this, I know, but mine always did until now. What's wrong? H. J.

A. Looks like a stuck pressure regulator valve.

Q. There is a noise in the rear axle of my car. A leak developed some time back but I was careful to have the level kept up by adding more lube as needed. Wm. P.

A. You may have used the wrong grade of lube or poor quality.

Q. The brakes on my car are hard to apply when I first start out. Are the power type. A brake shoe adjustment hasn't helped at all. L. M. C.

A. Binding brake pedal linkage is a likely cause of this condition.

Q. There is an annoying tramping action of the front wheels of my car. New, premium grade tires haven't helped. P. B. R.

A. You will probably find that the brake drums are out of balance.

Q. The generator of my car has developed an odd noise which I can't seem to figure out. It isn't a belt noise, and the brushes are all right. M. F.

A. Maybe the generator is loose where it bolts to the engine.

Q. Oil pressure was quite low on a recent trip, even if the engine wasn't running hot. It was a fairly cool night so I was able to keep going. Had the oil changed later and everything has been normal since. J. McN.

A. I had a recent case where west on Chambersburg St. to meet the parade leaving the Meade School area.

Governor Lawrence, Judge W. C. Sheely, Congressman George A. Gooding and others in the official party reviewed the parade as it passed through Lincoln Square.

First came the borough police car followed, on horseback, by Chief Marshal LeRoy H. Winebrenner and Aides John L. Caulman, John D. Teeter and Charles T. Jacobs. Heading the Gettysburg Senior High School band was its color guard, newly outfitted in Civil War costumes and carrying drums, flags and rifles of the Civil War period.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MARCH

Behind the high school band came rank on rank of public school children, accompanied by teachers and school officials, each carrying armfuls of flowers and small American flags. The column included the Gettysburg Junior High School band, followed by flower-carrying, flag-carrying children of the local parochial school.

Heading the Second Division were mounted aides, Charles W. Wolf, Steven Jacobs and Ralph Shetter. The Headquarters Command Band of Bolling Air Force Base was followed by the regimental color guard and staff of officers from the 104th Armored Cavalry and marching in 50 rows, 10-men wide, the Second Reconnaissance Squadron of the 104th—comprising the local howitzer battery, the headquarters troop from York, the tank troop from York, Troop E of Hanover, Troop F of Chambersburg, Troop G of Waynesboro and Troop H of Harrisburg.

Mounted Aides Arthur W. Warman, Jack Bucher and James T. Hays led the third division of the parade, headed by the Blue and Gray Band.

OTHER UNITS

Next in line was the firing squad of Post 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Gettysburg, followed by Post 8896, VFW, of East Berlin, and its auxiliary.

The Hanover American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps headed the American Legion contingent of the parade which included the honor guard of Post 202, American Legion, of Gettysburg.

Other units in the Third Division included the Catholic War Veterans Post of McSherrytown, the

A reception for the catechumens and all others who joined St. Paul's Lutheran Church within the past two years will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday in the church social hall. The affair is in charge of the Young Women's Bible Class.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rudisill, E. Myrtle St., were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lonce, Hagerstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lentz Jr. and family, and her mother, Mrs. G. Irvin Reinhold, York, visited on Sunday with the latter's sisters, Miss Florence V. Sell, E. King St., and Mrs. Thomas O. Weaver, E. Myrtle St.

Mrs. J. Edgar Yealy, W. King St. Extd., will be hostess to the Frances Segner Circle of the United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church for a meeting at 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Freed AP Reporter Tells Of La Cabana Prison In Havana

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent Robert Berrellez during two years in Cuba became a sort of authority on Fidel Castro's most famous prison, La Cabana. He wound up there as a prisoner, but finally was released to return to the United States. Here is his description of this prison whose name strikes terror in many Cuban hearts.

INTERVIEWED LEADER

I know La Cabana well. My first assignment after reaching Havana in mid-January 1959 was to go to the prison to interview Maj Jesus Sosa Blanco, accused by Fidel Castro of more than 100 murders. He was executed the same month.

I went there many times thereafter to interview other so-called war criminals and had no difficulties coming and going. There was no suggestion then that my career as a correspondent in Havana was to end with detention in the same prison.

The original fortress is surrounded by deep, dry, grassy moats. Traffic feeds over narrow bridges, some covered.

USED DEEP VAULTS

The prison itself is a tiny triangular space in one corner of the original fort. Deep vaults apparently used by the Spanish military to store food and wine were converted into prison cells much later.

The vaults run under nearly six feet of porous concrete. I was told this was intended to let rain water seep through the walls slowly. The ever present breeze from the ocean about a mile away combines with the damp walls to create a primitive air conditioning. The prison is cool in the steamy tropical daytime heat, and intensely cold at night.

HOME BARBERSHOP

Vaulted cells are built into an L-shaped wall that forms two sides of the triangle. One unnumbered cell is a well equipped barber shop. Next to cell No. 22 is the first steel-barred gate. Just beyond another cell is the prison administrative office. Next to it, and nearest the heavily guarded main gate, is death row.

From the back end of the cells, and through a double set of bars, we could peer into the grassy moats.

One part of the moats, not visible from the cells, is used for executions. There was no firing squad activity during my stay there. I was told, however, the shots and screams could be heard clearly in the cells.

GRADUATION

will represent the class in the acceptance of the diplomas.

Rev. Kroeger will pronounce the benediction.

Rev. Robert A. MacAskill will be the speaker at the baccalaureate service Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium. After the call to worship by Dale Ritchey, Miss Kime will lead the audience in a responsive reading and the scripture. The senior chorus will sing "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rev. MacAskill's topic will be "How to Go Places in Life." After the audience sings "Faith of Our Fathers," Rev. MacAskill will give the benediction.

The class advisors are Mrs. Gwendolyn E. Hall and Paul E. Sponseller. The class motto is "To Thine Ownself Be True," and the flower is the lily of the valley.

The honor students in the class are the Misses Nancy Kime and Nancy Kugler and Kenneth D. Ritchey.

NOTICE
The Board of Directors of the School District of the Township of Mount Pleasant, Adams County, Pa., pursuant to the provisions of Act 2481 of the General Assembly, approved June 25, 1947, P. L. 1143 and its amendments, hereby gives notice of a meeting of said Board to be held Wednesday, June 7, 1961, at 8:30 o'clock p.m., D.S.T., in the new Elementary School, New Oxford, Pa., for the school year 1961-62, providing for the imposition, levying, assessing and collecting of a tax for general revenue purposes on the occupants of all residents of said school district (lying South of State Highway Route 116) over the age of twenty-one (21) years at the rate of two hundred (200) mills, that is twenty (20) on each one ($10.00) dollar of the assessed value of the property, such resident, providing for the payment, method and manner of collection of tax imposed, assessed and levied by this resolution and imposing penalties for default in payment and imposing responsibility on the husband for his wife's tax. The reason which, in the judgment of the Board, necessitates the imposition of the aforesaid tax is the need to secure funds to meet current operating expenses and rental obligation of the school district. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from said tax is approximately $4,500.00 per year.

QUOTES HOLMES

"If you have advanced in line," said Oliver Wendell Holmes, "and have seen ahead of you the spot which you must pass where the rifle bullets are striking; if you have ridden by night at a walk toward the line of fire at the dead angle of Spotsylvania, where for twenty-four hours the soldiers were fighting on the two sides of an earthwork, and in the morning the dead and dying lay piled in a row six feet deep, and as you rode had heard the bullets splashing the mud and earth about you; if you have been in the picket line at night in a black and unknown wood, and have heard the spat of bullets upon the trees, and as you have moved, have felt your foot slip upon a dead man's body; (Continued On Page 8)

Best hitting streaks ever compiled as a Giant were turned in by Fred Lindstrom in 1930 and Don Mueller in 1955. Both hit safely in 24 straight games.

if you have had a blind fierce gallop against the enemy with your blood up and a pace that left no time for fear—if, in short, you have known the vicissitudes of terror and triumph in war, you know that there is such a thing as the faith I speak of. You know your own weakness and are modest; but you know that man has in him that unspeakable something which makes him capable of miracle, able to lift himself by the might of his own soul, unaided, able to face annihilation for a belief."

MEN WILL FIGHT

"We are a century, three generations, from the battles which Holmes knew—and our nation has changed, our world has changed, almost beyond recognition.

"What we pray has not changed, what we know has not changed, is the fact that man is still capable of these miracles, still able to lift himself by the might of his own soul, still able to face annihilation for his beliefs.

"The history of that war, fought so many years ago, must remind us that men will defend just as stubbornly, die just as bravely, for beliefs which history and a later moral conscience will declare mistaken, as they will for causes we find just. There are few today who hold that Lee's men on this battlefield, encountering death to dissolve the Union, were fighting for the right. They were seeking to restrict the boundaries of human freedom; they were at odds with their century, with this land's destiny, with our dream of equality for all races and conditions of men.

"But surely there is no one who will say that the men of the South showed less courage, less fortitude, less heroism than their brave opponents from the North-east states.

"SAVED HER LIFE"

"William James, a great philosopher, said that the inner mystery of democracy is contained in 'two common habits, two inveterate habits carried into public life—habits so homely that they lend themselves to no rhetorical expression, yet habits more precious, perhaps, than any the human race has gained.'"

"They can never," James went on to say, "be too often pointed out or praised. One of them is the habit of trained and disciplined good temper toward the opposite party when it fairly wins its innings. It was by breaking away from this habit that the slave states nearly wrecked our Nation. The other is that of fierce and merciless resentment toward every man or set of men who break the public peace. By holding to this habit, the free states saved her life."

"I think that is a true statement, and I think it is a moral for our time.

FREEDOM UNDER SIEGE

"We, too, live in a world where freedom is under siege. The Communists reject utterly the idea that the people have a right to choose; that they may, under democratic processes, change their political leadership and the directions of their society, that they may swing by free choice from conservative to liberal or even radical policies of government and back again. The Communists believe in dictatorship; their processes are irreversible. Castro has no use for elections. Khrushchev installs Communist regimes from the Baltic to the Black Sea, from Poland to Rumania, and maintains them by the ever present threat of force. There are no mechanics whereby the 500,000,000 people of China can pass judgment on Chairman Mao.

"Wherever communism holds power, there is no 'habit of trained and disciplined good temper toward the opposition party.' Indeed, there is no opposition party. In its place are purges and brainwashings and compulsion."

"BREAK PUBLIC PEACE"

"And in the lands which Communists do not control, there is no hesitation by the Communists, when they feel strong enough, to 'break the public peace,' to create guerilla movements and full scale revolts in a Laos, a Vietnam, a Malaya.

"Our aim must be to create a rule of law in the world, as our Constitution created a rule of law among the states and the people who inhabit them. Our aim must be to capture the minds of men, as Abraham Lincoln captured their minds 100 years ago. Our power must be as strong as the Union armies which carried the flag back to New Orleans and Atlanta and Richmond. Our resolution must be as great, our belief must be as strong, as the resolution and beliefs of the men who died in the three-day battle that raged across this country-side.

WORK OUT DESTINIES

"We are not committed to overthrow communism where it exists in great states such as Russia and China, just as Lincoln was not committed to uproot slavery in the states of the South until the second year of the Rebellion. We are committed, as he was committed, to resist its spread; to prevent its contamination of freedom in the lands where peoples are still striving to work out their destinies by democratic means.

"Like the people of the North a century ago, who regarded slavery as an evil which an improvement in the human conscience would one day eliminate, we regard the Communist societies as backward and regressive. We hope that they cannot indefinitely suppress the human spirit; we believe they must some day evolve their own institutions of liberty and justice.

"Meanwhile, the free soil of this day, the Nations of the Atlantic Pact, the troubled countries of black Africa, the lands on the rim of the Asian continent, the Western Hemisphere itself—these must be kept free, kept free first by the will of their own peoples, kept free because our strength and the strength of our Allies is a shield under which the weaker Nations can survive and grow strong.

OPPONENTS ARE RUTHLESS

"We must never again, as we have done too frequently in the past, underestimate our opponents. They are brave, skillful and ruthless; they are dedicated and determined, as convinced in their bad cause as we have come to be in what we hold as just and good.

"We must excel them in material accomplishment and, above all, in moral force. We must maintain and increase our strength, and we must learn new lessons in coolness under global fire and patience under continuing strain. We must not be led into war because we cannot endure the tensions of peace; when General Sherman said that 'war is hell' he added that it is 'only those who have never fired a shot or heard the shrieks and groans of the wounded who cry aloud for blood, more vengeance, more desolation.' But when our President meets Chairman Khrushchev or any other world leader, he must know—and the world must know—that the American people are ready, as they were in Lincoln's time, to pay whatever price, to meet whatever force, to accomplish any task that is necessary to preserve us as a Nation and to secure freedom in the world.

JUDGED BY WORLD

"All of our work does not lie in our world commitments nor in our armed strength. Much of it lies in our own society at home. We will be judged in the world; we will hold the allegiance of other peoples or lose their confidence by our own performance in our own society here in the United States.

"Walt Whitman had a vision of our future, a vision that came to him as the sad epic of our Civil War was at its weary end.

"The Four Years' War is over," Whitman wrote, "and in the peaceful, strong, exciting, fresh occasions of today, and of the future, that strange sad war is hurrying even now to be forgotten... a new race, a young and lusty generation already sweeps in with oceanic currents, obliterating the war, and all its scars, its mounded graves, and all its reminiscences of hatred, conflict, death. So let it be obliterated. I say the life of the present and the future makes undeniable demands upon us each and all, south, north, east, west. To help put the United States... hand in hand, in one unbroken circle in a chant—to rouse these states to the unprecedented grandeur of the part they are to play, and are even now playing — to the thought of their great future... especially their great esthetic, moral, scientific future (of which their vulgar material and political present is but as the preparatory tuning of instruments by an orchestra).

these are still for me among my hopes, my ambitions."

"Whitman was a great patriot as well as a great poet.

"He was a prophet of his country's greatness. He would have loved these times, as our own great poet, Robert Frost, loves their challenge and their opportunity.

"And his hopes and ambitions today would be what ours must be; that we must overcome in our society the last vestiges of the system—the system of compulsory inferiority—which was the underlying cause of our Civil War.

"We have much to do, both North and South.

"When we see the progress we have made — and it is striking progress — in the whole field of civil rights, we are apt to be complacent. Pennsylvania has no segregated schools; Pennsylvania has a fair employment law; Pennsylvania has a fair housing law. The Supreme Court has outlawed discrimination as a matter of law; the executive departments of the Federal Government are bringing their great weight to its outlawry as a matter of practice.

"We are nearer—much nearer—equality of opportunity than we have ever been before. But it has been a long time coming — 100 years is a long time to wait — and it is not yet fully achieved.

"We have still to realize 'the new birth of freedom' which Lincoln proclaimed on this very field and, until we do, much of the world will find a hollow sound, a sound of mockery, in our bravest words and our proudest preachments.

"Memorial Day in 1961 is a good time — a necessary time — to confess our shame for what happened at Central High School in Little Rock; for what is happening in the Virginia counties where the schools are closed and the New Orleans districts where the schools are boycotted; for the mobs in Birmingham and Montgomery in Alabama, and for the jailings in Jackson, Mississippi. These things are breaches of the public peace; we must meet them with fierce and merciless resentment. They are the unfinished business, the last evil remnants, of the war that was fought 100 years ago. This Nation will not long tolerate their continuance.

"And we in the North—where we have no White Citizens' Council, where the Ku Klux Klan has been long since extinguished — have our own house to set in order. It is not enough for us to express our dismay at events beyond our borders; it is more important that we cure our own evils of discrimination, that we eliminate our city ghettos, that we open our employment opportunities fairly and freely on a basis of ability alone. That is a good resolve for us on this Memorial Day, at this very field where Abraham Lincoln once asked us 'to take increased devotion to that cause' for which the dead 'gave their full measure of devotion.'

"And, with all our shortcomings, with all that we must yet do, I am sure that we have not failed these men who sleep forever on our Pennsylvania soil, nor have we failed that President who spoke immortally at this site. Abraham Lincoln knew the fallibility of mankind; he lives in our imagination as the most human of our Presidents, at once humorous and melancholy; compassionate and hard as nails; wise in the earthy ways of politics and, withal, noble in his aspirations for our country and its people.

"We would have been proud to see America—strong in the Union that he saved, the Union grown to 50 states and one hundred and eighty millions of people, as the champion of freedom in the world; he would know that these dead of Gettysburg, and all the battlefields across the world where Americans have fought for freedom, have in truth not died in vain. For it is their example, their proud heritage, their love of country and their ultimate bravery which inspires us today.

"We will do no less; we will play our destined part; we will meet our burdens; and make our way in the great unfolding pageant of man's progress here on earth."
